THE BUSINESS SCIENCE INSTITUTE IS A MEMBER OF THE EFMD

EFMD

The EFMD (European Foundation for Management Development) has accepted the Business Science Institute as a member, making BSI the first Luxembourgian academic institution to become a member of this prestigious organization. Located in Brussels, the EFMD is an international organization that gathers 900 Business Schools worldwide, and delivers the EQUIS accreditation (European Quality Improvement System) as well as the EPAS (EFMD Programme Accreditation System).

For Professor Michel KALIKA, President of the Business Science Institute, “this EFMD membership is an additional step toward international recognition”. The EFMD attaches a particular importance to internationalization and to the quality processes of institutions of high education in management.

The ideal library for management sciences

This study is aimed at the actors in the field of management sciences and works towards the development of the ideal library: the books that we have read, the books that we consider particularly interesting, and those that we assign to our students.

This study, carried out in partnership with the FNEGE, is part of a larger historical survey of publishing in management (1970-2020) initiated by Eve Lamendour (IAE of La Rochelle) in the context of the CEREGE. Its aim is a better understanding of what books contribute to the constitution of knowledge specific to management.

The questionnaire is short (5 to 8 minutes) but may require some time for reflection. Do not hesitate to turn to your library or your thesis.
